NO CHANGE IN CONDITION OF BITUMINOUS COAL STRIKE

Government May Have to Step in and Take Hand in Dispute

UNION MINES ARE STILL IDLE

There has been no change in the coal situation over Sunday, and no decision is expected today from the conference now on at Washington. The operators agreed to a 15 per cent advance for miners and a 20 per cent advance for day hands. The miners asked a flat 40 per sent increase and both of these offers have been rejected The miners could not see the operators' raise, while the operators said the miners' demand were unreasonable.

Secretary Wilson has suggested an increase of 31 per cent, but the operators have refused saying it would refuse to pay it. The miners have agreed to accept the 31 per cent. and there the situation stood Saturday evening.

It is reported that a special meeting of the cabinet will be held Tuesday morning and that the question will be put up to President Wilson. The operators have agreed to abide by any decision the fuel administration makes, which means that if the President and his cabinet comes to a decision it will be communicated to Dr Garfield, federal fuel administrator, who will make it known to both operators and miners.

No mines that have been idle in this section since the first of the month have resumed operations, all of the mines lying until the conference at Washington shall have come to some decision. In the meantime it is reported that some non-essential plant has to restrict operations because of the scarcity of the coal supply. This does not apply to the Pittsburg district where all plants appear to have all the fuel they need.

The steel mills are making good progress toward a normal basis. At Donora, in addition to the dupiex, two of the zinc furnaces have been placed in operation the first time since the inauguration of the strike ten weeks ago.

THIEVES ACTIVE IN BEALLSVILLE DISTRICT

Petty thieving continues in the Beallsville community. Frank Nickeson, residing on the Beallsville-Turkeyfoot road, lost a valuable calf one night last week. The animal had been placed in a barn and was about four weeks old. Although an effort has been made, there are no clues which would lead to the arrest of the guilty parties. Farmers in that section are becoming thoroughly aroused over the many depredations that have recently taken place in that community.

FIRE AT RUSSIAN HALL LAST NIGHT

A gas explosion at 11 o'clock last night caused some damage at Russian Hall, near the car barn and blew out the front of the store of Yewsiak & Gurnik, grocers, who occupy the first floor. The fire department was called and subdued the blaze in a very short time. The loss will not be very heavy.

NEW PACKET HAS ENTERED THE TRADE

The steamer Corker, a passenger and freight packet, made her initial trip from Pittsburg to Fairmont on Saturday last, for the Pittsburg & Fairmont Packet company. The run from Pittsburg to Lock No. 4 was made in a little less than five hours.

The new boat, which is under command of Capt Burnsmith, carried a very fair load of freight, and having the promise of many shippers of their support is expected to build up a trade which will prove to be profitable The Corker was purchased by the company for the Monongahela river trade last July, shortly after which she was placed on the docks at Point Pleasant for repairs. When the boat was taken out it was found that many repairs were needed and when the steamer was finally replaced in the water she was practically a new boat.

The Corker is about 100 feet long 26 feet beam, and of very light draft. She has accommodations for 40 cabin passengers, as well as members of the crew. Her freight accommodations are roomy, and her equipment peculiarly suited for the trade.

MINER IS HELD FOR DYNAMITING

Frank Sgro, the Millsboro miner, arrested Thursday by Pennsylvania railroad officers at his home for complicity in blowing up the railroad bridge over the mouth of Black Dog hollow on the Ten Mile branch, was held for United States Court at a hearing held on Saturday before Federal Commissioner Ioger Knox. Witnesses testified at the hearing that they saw Sgro running from the scene of the explosion shortly after the bridge had been wrecked. He was remanded to jail under $5 000 bail.

The Ladies Auxiliary of the A. O. M. of Monessen, after their business session Tuesday evening at Moose hall, will hold a euchre and dance.

Health Officer Darby made inspections on Sunday of three new cases of diptheria one of scarlet fever and one of chickenpox. These cases are located in various parts of the town.

Statement Shows Condition Of Steel Strike Situation

The following statement concerning the status of the steel workers' strike in this district was sent out last night by the Tri-State News Bureau:

The following information on the steel strike, which was called September 22, ten weeks ago today, taken in the Pittsburg district, which includes Youngstown, Wheeling, Clarksburg, Donora, Monessen, Bellaire, Ohio; Martins Ferry, Ohio; Brackenridge, Arnbridge, Aliquippa, New Kensington, Vandergrift, McKeesport, Port Vue, Clariton, Sharon, New Castle, Ellwood City, Butler, Farrell, Duquesne and Pittsburg proper, including Homestead, Braddock and the other suburbs:

Number of steel workeers in district, 228,430.

Number who failed to report for work September 22 (including both strikers and men thrown out of work as a result of the plants closing) 162,474.

Number who have returned to their old jobs to date, 109,455.

Foreigners returning to old country since strike call, 10,320.

Strikers, radicals, etc, who have either left this district or were forced to leave, 15,840.

Total payroll loss, $29,634,064.67

Damage to property as result of strike, $152,150.00.

Injured in riots, clashes between pickets and workers, etc 173

Killed in riots, etc., 7.

Paralyzed as result of being struck by brick in riot, 1.

In the entire district on September 23 only 18 per cent of the mills were working. Today 84 per cent are working, which includes Wheeling, where the plants have not yet resumed operation, and Youngstown, where only a bout 50 per cent are working. However in both Youngstown and Wheeling the delay in resumption is due largely to coal shortage.

DONATION DAY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Donation Day for the Charleroi-Monessen hospital, held on Saturday last, was the most successful event of the kind ever held for that institution. The donations were so generous that at noon today a complete tabulation from various sources had not yet been completed, but the list will be ready in time for publication tomorrow. The donations through the public schools were particularly generous, and a separate list will be made of these, showing what each building did in this splendid work. It is estimated that the goods donated have a value of over one thousand dollars

ARREST HOLD-UP MEN SUNDAY MORNING

Officers Murphy and Peters arrested three men at 2:45 Sunday morning, charged with holding up and robbing a young man named Jobes on Fifth street. As the victim of the robbery only had 22 cents in his possession the money was handed back to him with the remark that the robbers wanted "some money" They were found later in a restaurant, where they were arrested and taken to the borough building and locked up. They will be given a hearing this evening. At first the trio said they were from Monessen, but later said their home was in Cleveland.

Lady Astor may not get her seat in Parliment because she is a woman and a Virginian by birth, but she has displayed remarkable courage and is not likely to regret her campaign She seems to be having the time of her life.

We read of no pleadings with Parisians to cross the street at the right place, possibly because under French law a pedestrian is still arrested for being knocked down by a carriage or an automobile.

Misses Cecelia and Margaret McDermott visited over Sunday in Pittsburg.

William Jones of Tenth street is seriously ill at his home.

TWO MINERS ARRESTED FOR VIOLATION OF THE LEVER ACT

Claimed They Were Preventing Miners from Returning to Work

TO HAVE HEARING WEDNESDAY

Federal authorities arrested Pete Haywood and Mike Zella, at Crucible, a short distance above Rices Landing on Saturday last, the prisoners being charged with criminal conspiracy in hindering the production of coal. The men were arrested under the provisions of the Lever act which affects the production and distribution of coal.

The prisoners, immediately after their arrest, were taken to Pittsburg and arraigned before Federal authorities, and released under $1,000 bail for a hearing to be held on Wednesday.

Two miners at the Crucible plant, Mike Pribula and John Balcek, declared that the prisoner had attempted to restrain them from entering the mines, according to agents of the Department of Justice, who assert that many other complaints had been made against the activity of Haywood and Zella.

The arrests are the first to be made in connection with investigations of the reported attempt to obstruct mining of coal. Since the strike was called off through the injunction proceedings of the government it is alleged that miners have been prevented from returning to work in many coal fields.

Federal authorities express their belief that radical influence is at work in an effort to nullify the action of the government in effecting a resumption of coal production. Haywood and Zell are said to be radicals by a government official. Other persons in the Greene county field are said to be concerned in the conspiracy to prevent the reopening of the mines.

Many letteers uttering threats have been placed under the doors of miners' homes in that section, according to the federal authorities, and there have been instances of threats having been made verbally to miners on their way to work.

All of the mines in Greene county have been working throughout the period of the strike, not being under the jurisdiction of the United Mine Workers. The attempt made last week to blow up a bridge on the Ten Mile branch was evidently an attempt to cut off traffic in order to stop production at the four mines located in that section, all of which are producing their normal amount of tonnage from day to day.

The prisoners taken Saturday declared they demanded the recognition of the union before they would return to work and they asserted that the government could not force them to return to work, according to agents of the department.

Haywood and Zella were employed as miners at the Crucible mines before the strike was called.

WEAVER MINER IS HELD FOR MURDER

Blaz Gjurinovich charged with the murder of Marco Berto, at Bentleyville, late Sunday night, Nov. 16, was held by the coroner's inquest held at Bentleyville on Saturday forenoon last, to await the February grand jury. The defendant was held on the testimony of 'Squire Gumbos of Bentleyville when on Saturday morning had heard Gjurinovich make threats against the life of Berto. Berto was killed when three men broke into the boarding house where he lived.

LAWS ENOUGH

In speaking of present-day conditions and the apparent unrest now manifest throughout the United States, which has resulted in outbreaks of various character, the New York Sun says:

"New laws are not needed. There are laws enough. What is needed is law enforcement; law enforcement by vigilant and fearless sheriffs, chiefs of police, majors, governors, law enforcement without passion and without sentimentality; law enforcement twenty-four hours every day, seven days every week, 52 weeks every year; law enforcement with the fixed determination of the honest citizens of America behind it and behind the authorities to whom that law enforcement is entrusted.

There are parts of America where most of the laws are enforced most of the time. There are parts of America where some of the laws are enforced some of the time. What America needs is to have all of the laws enforced all of the time everywhere within its bounds. When this comes about, we shall not have more laws but fewer laws.

"It is easy to blame the "authorities" for not enforcing the laws, for allowing conditions to exist in any city of any state which inevitably produce outrages. But these authorities are public officials pretty faithfully representing the public to which they are responsible. If that public is lazy, careless, indifferent and slights the duties of citizenship, its officers will be lazy, careless, indifferent, corrupt, and slight the duties of their offices. If the public is awake to its obligations, if citizens do their duty there will be no public officers weak in the performance of their duty, and there will be no outrages like that which on Armistice Day disgraced the state which bears the name of the Father of His Country."

MEXICO

During the progress of the peace negotiations Mexico was busily engaged in laying up a store of arms and ammunition. The Carranza government was working secretly, even stealthily. Large orders were placed in Belgium and Spain. The Belgian orders were not filled, for the United States became aware of the business and representations to the Belgian government that it was contrary to the terms of the international arms convention were sufficient to end Carranza's transactions in this quarter. Spain was not a party to the convention, and it is admitted that large supplies of war materials have already been shipped from Spain to Mexico.

These Mexican activities can be interpreted as signs of a guilty conscience. It is scarcely to be imagined that Carranza is crazy enough to contemplate warfare against the United States. On the other hand it appears likely that the Mexican executive has feared punishment for his pro-German activities during the war. As soon as the armistice put an end to all hopes of German victory Carranza thoroughly frightened, set about making ready to defend himself. He knew he reserved little or no consideration and he measured the probability of American action by his own estimate of his wrong-doing.

The Mexican government will bear watching, despite the fact that it is not likely to plan war on the United States. The great preparations are for defensive purposes only. Inasmuch as the United States is not contemplating a Mexican war, and anyway, would not begin a Mexican war without being prepared for a quick and thorough job, the Spanish guns that Carranza is hoarding is causing no violent alarm. Carranza with or without Spanish guns, is a disagreeable customer, but the guns do not make him apparently more disagreeable or dangerous.

INCOME TAX AND ROAST BEEF

The income tax framed in 1913, when the cost of living was about 50 per cent less than it is now. At that time Congress fixed the exemptions at $3,000 for single persons and $4,000 for married persons and heads of families. The excess was 1 per cent of the incomes in excess of the amounts named. It was a tax which hit the average successful American principles harder than it struck his pocket. A married man with an income of 4,800 paid a tax of only $8. Rib roast was to be had at 20 cents a pound.

Let us suppose that the particular married man died, leaving his wife unprovided for, and that she is now employed as a bookkeeper at a salary of $25 a week. The income tax law of 1917 lowered the exemption of single persons to $1,000. The widow is taxed 4 per cent on the $200 by which her income exceeds the exemption of $1,000. She will pay in the spring of 1920 exactly the tax her husband with four times her income paid in the spring of 1913. Rib roasts are to be had for 50 cents a pound, but it is not for widows who are living on incomes of $25 a week.

The income tax is a pretty horse until it gets on its owner's back. But without it how would the administration have been able to squandeer in the way of it—N. Y. Sun.

MODERN BARGES FOR RIVER SERVICE

Pittsburg's prestige as a boat building industry is being upheld by the American Bridge Company. While the Monongahela valley for years was famous for building timber steamboats and barges it remains with that company to follow the footsteps of the late Captain Samuel Brown, who was known as the original builder of steel barges, having built them at Brown's boatyards, Brown's station, Monongahela river.

When rivermen of inland waterways think of Pittsburg, they think of the head of navigation. When the United States railroad administration planned to relieve its rail freight congestion by using waterways, Pittsburg firms were among the first to compete in building barges for the proposed transportation service.

The American Bridge Company received an order to fabricate 25 all-steel barges out of a group of 40 which were designed by Cox & Stevens of New York. The contract was let in November, 1918, and the company since has delivered 10 barges two August 22, three September 28 and five November 14. Two barges since have been launched, while three more are on the ways

Captain H. B. Hulings, owner and master of the towboat Hulings, which left Friday with a tow of five barges for Cario, stated that rivermen of long standing when visiting the boats remarked after a thorough inspection that the workmanship on these boats was unequaled. Captain Frank Warner is the Pittsburg representative of the designers and also the Government and has charge of the inspection service.

The contract for these barges was made through G. A. Tomlinson, director of the division of Inland Waterways, United States railroad administration, and Mayor T. Waters Fox of Washington, is engineer of construction and contracting.

These barges, which are designed to carry miscellaneous cargo and bulk oil in the Mississippi river between St. Louis and New Orleans, have a capacity of 2,000 tons if freight on a draft of eight feet or the equivalent of 40 freight cars. Their dimensions are, length on deck, 230 feet; beam moulded, 45 feet; depth moulded 11 feet; length of cargo box, 184 feet and width of cargo box 37 feet. It is intended that barges of this type will be towed in groups of six with a total capacity of 12,000 tons equivalent to 240 railroad cars.

The construction of these barges is of steel throughout. The lines show a scow form with long, easy raking ends and rounded bilges, designed to reduce resistance in towing up stream in the swift river currents. The cargo box is provided with 16 hatches, eight to the side, 14 feet by 16 feet, and eight double sliding doors in each side, all arranged for convenience in handling freight.

The available cargo space extends from the deck of the cargo to the floor of the hold, a total depth of 19 feet. The hold is divided into 18 compartments by wing and transverse bulkheads, the wing compartments being oil tight. Pumping arrangements are provided for handling bulk cargo. On the main deck are provided towing bits, chocks, cleats, capstans, etc., as required by the American bureau of shipping.

A CIGARETTE that invites you to enjoy a smoke as you never have before—that's Chesterfield.

Not merely fine tobaccos, mind you, though we use the finest of Turkish and Domestic leaf, but an exclusive blending method that brings out hidden flavors—flavors that others have failed to find.

That's why Chesterfields are different. That's why they satisfy. And this method is a closely guarded secret. That's why none but Chesterfields can satisfy.

Majestic Theatre

The Most of the Best for the Least

Charleroi, Penna.

Dear (Sir or Madam):—

Do you recall beautiful Geraldine Farrar's greatest photo-play triumphs, "Joan the Woman" and "The Woman God Forgot?" Of course you do and you regard these pictures as the last word in dramatic power and massiveness.

Now see the crowning achievement of Miss Farrar's screen career, "The World and Its Woman," a powerful drama of modern Russia and the woman whose wit foiled a powerful nation and saved the life of the man she loved.

It is more spectacular than "Joan The Woman;" more tensely dramatic than "The Woman God Forgot." Lou Tellegen plays opposite Miss Farrar.

"The World and Its Woman" comes to the Majestic for two days—Tuesday and Wednesday, November 25th and 26th.

Don't miss it.

Cordially yours,
MICHAEL ROSENBLOOM.

A CHARLEROI GIRL WRITES FROM FRANCE

The Mail is in receipt of the following letter from Miss Claire Campbell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell, of 719 Fallowfield avenue, which will no doubt be read with interest by her many friends:

To the Editor of the "Mail":

As so many of the boys from home wrote such interesting letters while over here, I wonder if you would care to read some experiences of a girl? Perhaps I have not seen as much of the country as many of them have, but that doesn't matter.

When I first came, we went to the central part of France (near Nevers). I found the country very beautiful and interesting. It seems so strange to see the American Flag flying back in remote country towns, here and there a Y. M. C. A. or a K. C. hut and figures in Khaki. When one meets a boy from Pennsylvania it makes a little warm thrill go thru one. You feel you have met some one from home.

After spending two or three weeks in the country, we went farther south, near Lyon. I managed to take a little trip from there visiting places along the Mediterranean. Some of the winter resorts are charming and those who have visited Nice, Monte Carlo, Cannes, etc, will, I am sure, heartily agree with me, although undoubtedly America has places equally as beautiful and interesting.

I was quite disappointed at not being able to visit Italy or Spain. It certainly was hard to be within reach of Rome and still not be able to go there.

I received rather a shock on returning from my trip when I learned my friends had been ordered to Germany. Of course I wanted to go too, but the American Counsul at Lyons couldn't quite see it the same way, so that left me in France entirely alone. It's rather an uncomfortable feeling to suddenly find yourself alone in a strange country, especially when you don't know the language. The boys who were here know how you feel when you go into a store and try to ask for something. You say everything you can think of that might sound something like the name of the article you want and meanwhile the shop-keeper in despair grabs anything within reach hoping he has guessed what you want. Fortunately now, I have passed that embarrassing stage and get along very well.

The only thing I could see to do was to come to Paris. Thanks to the kindness of an English girl working for the American Y. M. C. A., I secured a position at the Army Headquarters and like the work very much.

One meets people from all parts of the world here. I have met girls from British Colonies in Africa, women from England, Ireland, Scotland, Russia, Constantinople, South America and Sweden.

But I forgot, I have not said much about Paris. It is, I imagine without exception, the most beautiful city in the world and at present I fancy its the coldest. There does not seem to be any heat anywhere. Where I stay they have not the slightest intention of having a fire all winter. Coal cannot be had and wood is very dear.

You people think things are expensive back home but the prices there havn't anything on France, I think nothing here of paying 12c for a banana, 16c for an egg, 15 or 20 cents for one small cake, $2 a pound for butter, etc.

There are many places of interest in and around Paris. Museums, Cathedrals, parks and also many beautiful Chateaux.

Some of the battle-fields are easy to reach from Paris too, and that adds interest. One can really not imagine the horrible devastations in some of the regions without seeing them, although now many of the trenches have fallen in and are being filled up and much of the debris has been cleared away. I have not yet had an opportunity to visit the American battle fields. True, we have not many, but that is something to be thankful for. We wenen't here long, but we did things while we were here.

No wonder the French girls, English girls, in fact everybody, like our boys. They have just reasons for doing so. I don't réally believe the American girls in general, appreciate our boys enough. In my estimation the American boys are a "survival of the fittest."

There are only a few hundred of our men left here now and from al appearances, they will all be gone by December. Those who are left will go to Germany to join the Army of Occupation.

I am sorry that a lot of my friends could not have taken this trip with me, for the experiences have been well worth having. It broadens one's mind to travel and moreover makes one appreciate one's home and country much more than he ever could otherwise.

With all good wishes to my many friends, and many thanks to those who made my trip possible, I am,

Yaurs sincerely,
CLAIRE CAMPBELL,
